Michigan’s Ballot Struggles

A Tidal Wave of Mailed Ballots is Looming

Convenience, an aversion to waiting in long lines, and COVID-19 have combined to generate an expected surge in Michigan voters, as well as voters in all other states, who wish to vote by mail rather than in person on election day. In 2018, Michigan voters passed a ballot measure that, among other things, provided a universal right to vote by mail, and in every succeeding election the number of voters exercising the right to vote by mail has grown:<sup>1</sup> nearly one million people voted by mail in the March 10, 2020 Presidential primary just before the COVID-19 pandemic struck in full, and in the August 4 Michigan state primary 1.6 million voters out of a total of 2.5 million voted by mail.<sup>2, 3</sup> This fall, Michigan’s Secretary of State expects to mail absentee ballot request postcards to 4.4 million registered voters in the state who are not already signed up to receive an absentee ballot or who did not request an absentee ballot earlier in the Spring.<sup>4</sup> Expectations are that more than 3 million voters will mail in their ballots for the November 3 general election.<sup>5</sup>

Simple changes to improve timely and accurate counting of mailed ballots stalled by Michigan Republicans

Several bills pending in the Michigan Legislature would assist local clerks in meeting the expected increase in mailed ballots. In February, 2020, Republican Senator Ruth Johnson, who previously served as Michigan Secretary of State from 2011 to 2018, introduced SB 756, which would allow clerks in jurisdictions with at least 10,000 active registered voters to have a second shift of workers in an absentee voter counting board, subject to certain safeguards, and SB 757, which would allow clerks in such jurisdictions to perform some preprocessing of absentee ballots on the Monday before the election, again subject to certain safeguards.<sup>6</sup> SB 756 was passed by the Senate on June 4, 2020 and awaits House action, and SB 757 was passed out of committee on May 27, 2020, and awaits Senate action.<sup>7, 8</sup>

Reasons for Mail Ballot Rejections in the Michigan State Primary Election

Figure 1. Michigan Primary Election, August 4, 2020 included 10,600 absentee ballots (mail-in) rejected out of a total of 1.6M absentee ballots submitted. Of these 10,600 rejected ballots, 80% were rejected due to late arrival (blue) or signature verification issues (red).

Two bills have been introduced in the Michigan House to address the problems with mailed ballots (See Figure 1) that led to the rejection of over 8,600 ballots (more than 80% of the total rejected) in the August 4 state primary.<sup>9</sup>

HB 5987, introduced by Vanessa Geurra (a Democrat representing District 95) on July 23, 2020, would permit

mailed ballots to be counted if postmarked by election day and received within the two days after the election.<sup>10</sup>

HB 5991, introduced by Yousef Rabhi (a Democrat representing District 53) on July 23, 2020, would require clerks to contact voters if a signature is missing or if the signature on a ballot application or on an absentee ballot does not match the signature on the voter registration.<sup>11</sup>

Republicans in charge of the House and Senate have not taken any further action on these rather modest measures. The election is fast approaching. Time is running out.

Democrats propose universal, vote-by-mail system to address election day problems, reduce costs and improve turnout

On May 6, 2020, Jeff Irwin, a Democrat representing Ann Arbor in the Michigan Senate, introduced SB 0909, a bill to establish a universal mail-in voting system and eliminate in-person voting.<sup>12</sup> Under the bill, all voters would mail in their ballots or return them to designated collection sites. This bill would eliminate the costs of polling places; voters would no longer be inconvenienced by long lines at polling places or need to interrupt their day to get to a polling place; and voter turnout would likely increase. The bill has been assigned to committee and no further action has been taken.<sup>13</sup>

Mr. Irwin has recognized the difficulties faced by the bill given Republican opposition to measures to make voting easier and increase turnout. The Republican-controlled Senate in Michigan will likely prove him correct.
